Jack Rosen

President of American Jewish Congress and Chairman of the Council for World Jewry, Jack Rosen also is a successful business leader. He is the chief executive of several commercial and residential real estate firms. His wide array of business interests includes ventures operating throughout the United States and Europe in healthcare, cosmetics and telecommunications.

Mr. Rosen is very active in government and political affairs. Mr. Rosen was a Presidential appointee to the United States Holocaust Memorial Council, as well as a member of the NASA Advisory Council. He is a member of the U.S.-Israel Bi-National Commission on Housing and Community Development.

At the request of then Speaker of the House Newt Gingrich, Mr. Rosen brought together leaders in the Jewish and Palestinian business community for a conference on the Middle East economic development.

In the field of international affairs, Mr. Rosen was a U.S. State Department delegate to the Panama Conference of the Organization of the American States, and was a member of the United State Presidential Delegation to attend Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin's funeral. He has been a member of numerous Congressional Missions, including to Mexico and to the Persian Gulf. He has served as a member of the Associates of the United States Commission for the Preservation of America's Heritage Abroad.

He was also a special guest of President Clinton's at the historic signing of the Israel-Jordan Peace Treaty. In addition to his work at the American Jewish Congress, Mr. Rosen is a member of the Executive Committee of AIPAC, and is a trustee of Park East Day School and Park East Synagogue in New York City, which honored him as its "Man of the Year," an honor bestowed on him as well by the American Cancer Society. Mr. Rosen also serves on the Board of Directors of Israel Humanitarian Fund and is a member of the Council for Foreign Relations.

A graduate of City University of New York, he and his wife reside in New York and have two sons.
