Ms. Kathryn Bomberger

Chief of Staff, International Commission on Missing Persons

Kathryne Bomberger was appointed Chief of Staff of the International Commission on Missing Persons in April 2004. The Chief of Staff is appointed by ICMP's Commissioners as the organization's chief executive officer and is responsible for the direction and oversight of all activities and programs in all areas of operation. She began working for ICMP as the Deputy Chief of Staff in July 1998.

Prior to working with the ICMP, Ms. Bomberger worked for the Organization for Security and Cooperation in Europe in Bosnia-Herzegovina and for the United Nations Civilian Mission in Haiti.

Before entering the field of human rights, Ms. Bomberger worked for the United States Senate in Washington, D.C. on publications relevant to the history of the Senate.

She holds a Master's Degree in International Relations with an emphasis on Middle East Studies from the George Washington University in Washington, D.C. and a Bachelor's Degree in History from the George Washington University, in Washington, D.C.
